Tragic Suicide.

A YOUNG MAN TAKES HIS LIFE. THE PRESENCE OF HIS LATE LOVE, WHO HAD FAILED TO RECOVER HIS LOVE, TWO SUICIDES IN CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

A gentleman who arrived in the city yesterday furnished the details of a most tragic and distressing suicide, which occurred Monday night at the residence of Mr. Joseph M. Blanton, in Cumberland county. The particulars of the sad affair are in substance as follows: A young man named Richard Kirk, from Mobile, Ala., who had lately graduated from the University of North Carolina, had been for some time paying his devotions to Miss Kate Paris, also of Mobile. The parents of the young lady objected to his attentions, and in an order to put a stop to them sent her on a visit to Mr. Blanton, who is a relative of the young man. It seems determined not to be thwarted, and started from Mobile last week to seek his love in Virginia. Arrived at Farmville, he drove to Mr. Blanton's house, seven miles distant, on Monday morning last. He received the usual welcome, and it seems presumed, was anything but favorable, for he left Mr. Blanton's very precipitately, and returning to Farmville, was observed to indulge quite freely in strong drink.

During the early afternoon, it is said, he went to a general store, and procured a pistol, which he took back to his room. He then hired a team from Smithson's livery stable, taking with him a colored man named George Diggs, and drove back to Mr. Blanton's. It was then in the afternoon, and the gentleman of the house observing his excited condition was at first inclined to allow the young lady to see him. He was, however, finally announced, but Miss Paris, who was sent to see him, on her way back to Mr. Blanton, the two young ladies accordingly went to the parlor, and out of abundant caution Mr. Blanton accompanied them. They had scarcely entered when Kirk whispered to Miss Paris, and she requested Mr. Blanton to retire. Mr. Blanton withdrew to the hall, where he walked up and down near the door, as if fearing some trouble. In a few moments the report of a pistol was heard, rushing into the parlor Mr. Blanton found Miss Paris lying on the floor. He picked her up and carried her to the sofa under the impression that she had been shot. He soon found she had only swooned, and, looking around, beheld young Kirk stretched dead upon the floor. He had not himself thought of the possibility of carrying the light car, going directly through the head, had passed out of the left ear.

The news of this fearful tragedy was not generally known in Farmville until yesterday, and as might naturally be supposed, had thrown a gloom over the entire community. The friends of the unfortunate young man were promptly telegraphed to, and it is presumed will promptly convey his remains to Alabama.

Intelligence of another suicide was obtained from the same source. It appears that Elijah G. Hudgins, a farmer living in Cumberland county below the Courthouse, committed suicide last week at his residence by cutting his throat from ear to ear. He died instantly. Domestic trouble was probably the cause of the rash act, the deceased having separated from his wife.

Announcements.

Theatre: Smith & Mayestay's "Reconstructed Tourists" to-night.

Industrial Exposition (Amory building, Seventh and Marshall streets): Open from 10 A. M. to 11 P. M. Vocal and instrumental concert to-night.

State Fair: Exhibition of horses, cattle, agricultural machinery, &c. Grounds west of the city, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Wagon running in connection with them.

Personals and Briefs.

The time of the parade of the Manchester Raganuffins was correctly stated in three places in the Dispatch of yesterday. In the fourth and most prominent place it was erroneously printed, and so, unfortunately, many persons were brought out upon the streets at an untimely hour. For this the Dispatch is mighty sorry, and begs pardon of its patrons and friends.

The war-houses of the Richmond and Danville railroad will be closed to-day. On and after Friday next no freight will be received at the depot at the Richmond and Alleghany railroad after 4 o'clock P. M.

The line of march of the procession to-day will be as follows: Down Broad street to Twenty-fifth, Twenty-fifth to Main, Main to First, First to Franklin, Franklin to Belvidere, Belvidere to Grace, Grace to the Capitol Square.

The post-office will be open to-day from 9 to 10 o'clock A. M. only. The carriers will make one delivery in the morning, leaving the office at 8 o'clock.

No vehicle except those in the procession must be allowed to stand or pass on streets along the line of march during the parade to-day. Street-cars will not be permitted to pass the line of march during the procession, but be required to wait until the line has passed, and to stop and allow the procession to pass.

The Germans could secure a hall and show their talents in their favorite lights, and have some singing between the lines, they might confidently count upon liberal public patronage.

Mr. Daniel Bradford, Jr., of the Page Courier, is in the city.

There has been much uniformity in the trades' procession to-day: Let every horse float the colors of his country from his head. United States flags are cheap. Dye them and decorate your horse's head.

Great will be the flow of traffic in the Capitol Square to-day. The parade will commence at 8 o'clock. There are several pictorial designs.

The mail-wagons of course must go from the post-office to the depots, but they should not be allowed to impede the procession. There are plenty of streets for them to take. Dr. Gilmer, please see to this.

The Tourists draw a tremendous crowd to the Theatre last night. It's a jolly play. If you want to laugh, go to the Theatre. The fireworks on the Capitol Square to-night will last nearly two hours, and will include representations of—

Yorktown (figurative); Coat-of-Arms of Virginia; Cross of the Legion of Honor; Saw-Saw; Flower-wreath; Kaleidoscope, tri-colored meteors, floral bonns (colored), eruption of Mount Vesuvius, &c., &c.

The office of the Old Dominion Steamship Company will be closed to-day. No freight will be received at the depot at the Richmond and Alleghany railroad after 4 o'clock P. M.

The police must keep the streets clear of vehicles to-day. This is the People's Day. Street-cars and wagons and buggies and carriages must be made to stand aside for once.

Mr. Hassell is in receipt of a letter from the Marquis de Rochambeau renewing his expressions of delight at the reception he and his companions had in Richmond.

The Council Centennial Committee have done their work well, and richly deserve the gratitude of this public.

This is going to be a "big day" here, and there will be an almost total suspension of business.

There were a great many strangers in the city yesterday. The Centennial parade was particularly well attended in the long rows of spectators upon our streets.

Bring all your country friends to the Capitol Square to-night to hear the music and see the fireworks.

The military will parade to-day. So will the firemen.

The parade of the Fire Men, Drums, Bands of Pythias, &c. So the trades people, with numerous wagons and artistic devices. There will be a grand time.
